"Reds" Admit Defeat by Coleman Miners

Strike Collapses With Amazing Suddenness as Men Go to Pit-Head of Mines to Sign On

Miners Show "Solidarity" by Immediately Returning to Work

Pickets Withdrawn 11 a.m. Wednesday and Full Crews Reported on Thursday Morning

Provisional Executive of Local Union Signed Agreement--White and Gillespie Given Unanimous Vote of Confidence to Carry On

Unity League Affiliation Shattered By Decisive Verdict as Practically 100 Per Cent. of Employees Go to Mines--Fifty Radical Agitators Refused Work By Two Companies

The strike, which opened in International mine on March 15, and McGillivray on March 19, ended in unexpected suddenness at 11 a.m. on Wednesday.

Though pickets were stationed at the approaches to both mines, men began to walk through them to the pit-head offices to sign on, at 8 a.m., and by ten o'clock the move was general, men going up in groups. Unity League officials, who were conducting a ballot in the Knights of Pythias hall asking if men were in favor of discrimination, called off the pickets, and the picketers also went over to apply for work. It is reported that about 50 were refused work.

On Wednesday evening Harvey Murphy addressed an open-air meeting, admitting defeat in Coleman. He stated the strike would continue in Blairmore and Bellevue, and asked those who were turned down for work in Coleman to go to those towns and help picket.

He stated the strike in Coleman was lost through lack of solidarity. The operators might think they had smashed Communism, but many Communists would still be at work in the mines, and the fight would continue. Those who were left without work would have to be taken care of, and he asked those who returned to work not to forget them.

The town and the government would also be appealed to for help. The meeting lasted for about an hour and a half.

Fight Against Discrimination--Down With Gillespie's Home Local--Fight Till Victory, were the slogans on banners carried by the demonstrators from Bellevue and Blairmore on Thursday afternoon, May 19, when they held a meeting outside of the skating rink.

MINERS WORKERS COMMITTEES

For McGillivray--D. Gillespie, Harry Garner and Ernest Houghton. For International--W. J. White, J. Ramsey and Steve Krzyzw. At a meeting held on May 19 in the opera house, men from both mines being present, W. J. White was appointed chairman, a standing vote of confidence, which was unanimous, being recorded, and D. Gillespie, secretary. These committees are provisional until organization of the new local association is completed.

Following the meeting, the joint committee met with General Managers Whiteside and Kellogg and signed the agreement to replace that which expired March 31. The new agreement is on the same terms, and continues till March 31, 1934.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The regular weekly meeting of the Scouts is held on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in St. Alban's hall. An invitation is extended to all boys between the ages of 12 and 20 years--A. S. McIntosh, Scoutmaster.

On Saturday and Sunday Coleman troop, Boy Scouts, camped out near Knowles' ranch, and can now tell you all about singing in the rain and trying to cook. Scoutmaster McIntosh has a fine group of Scouts, and more are joining.

Homing Pigeon Wounded

A homing pigeon owned by W. P. Ayle, released at Cowley about three weeks ago, returned about two weeks later with the leg band sawed off. The bird must have been captured, and later released or took flight from its captivity. On various occasions last year pigeons released by the Coleman Homing Society returned badly wounded, indicating they had either been attacked by wild birds and deliberately shot at.

J. S. D'Appolonia, Joe DeCecco and John D'Andrea were delegates from Coleman to a three days' meeting in Lethbridge of the Ordre Independente. For D'Agila, held on May 15 to 19.

CHILD'S NARROW ESCAPE IN RIVER.

A boy named Bombardier, aged six years, was found on a small island in the river on Joe Michalsky's farm on Tuesday, reports E. W. Bear, of Coleman. No person saw him enter the water, and it was impossible to learn anything from the child. The only reason which can be given is that he fell in the river and was washed onto the island. He was suffering from the cold water, and beyond a severe fright, appeared to be uninjured.

HERE'S A CURIOSITY

An unique chair is in the possession of Mr. McCool, storekeeper at Crows Nest. It was made about ten years ago by Tom Riggs, at that time a resident, and he must have gone to infinite trouble to select the pieces of wood with the right curves and bends, knots, and other peculiarities to make such an interesting chair. Every piece is a part of a tree, smoothed down and polished, the only exception being the seat, which consists of layers of veneer wood. It is worth dropping in to see.

Local News

Mr. and Mrs. George Morgan and Ivor, and Mrs. T. Flynn, motored to Lethbridge on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Young, Shaunnessy, were recent visitors with Mrs. Morris, Sixth Street, and Mrs. Burrell, and their little daughter, Cecilia, remained to visit her aunts.

Coleman senior C.G.I.T. girls last week played against Blairmore in a game of softball, and won by a score of 23-13. Blairmore play a return game here on May 27.

'Kay' Guerdar, who during her time of attending school in Coleman, was a popular member of the high school literary society, was heard over the radio from Calgary last Thursday, and many of her old school chums were delighted to hear her singing and playing.

Walter S. Purvis, who represents the International Coal & Coke Co. in Winnipeg, is here for a week or two. He attended the annual convention of the Western Canada Fuel Association in Saskatoon. Competition is very keen in the Winnipeg market, the states, Saskatchewan and Alberta mines getting the bulk of the business.

Red Cross Society to Be Addressed by Provincial Commissioner

Addresses Will Be Given to Junior Red Cross and Ladies in the Evening.

Mrs. Waagen, honorary provincial commissioner for the Red Cross Society, will address a public meeting in the council chamber on Tuesday, May 31, at 7:45 p.m. In the afternoon she will address the Junior Red Cross, of which Miss Vuill is the president in Coleman, and which has contributed steadily for several years to this worthy cause.

All ladies of the town are cordially invited to attend, as Mrs. Waagen is a gifted speaker and her address will stimulate interest in the provincial activities of the Red Cross Society.

Mrs. A. W. H. McLeod is the local president and Mrs. C. F. Dunlop is secretary.

A party from Coleman, including Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Borden, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLeod and Col. R. F. Barnes attended the dance of the Fernie Golf and Country Club on Monday evening, held in connection with the annual Crows Nest Pass tournament.

Why Pay More?

Frank Barringham paid a license of $50, and another $50 for hiring the opera house, printing and advertising and sundry expenses, erected a roped boxing ring and spent time and energy in arranging a fight last year. Last week the hall was granted free by kindness of M. Stegler, representing the union which owns the hall, and the hottest fight in years was precipitated without any admission charge, umpteen chairs and windows were broken, and a "hot time" was experienced by all.

To see Frank's show cost a dollar or more, and there was no profit for the promoter. Last week's was as free as the air, free-for-all to take part in or make a hasty exit. Frank now wonders why he imported boxes from coast to coast when a "peppier" fight was staged right here with all home talent, which was featured with more action in four minutes than two hours of bouts under Queensbury rules.

ACES TOP SCORE AGAINST MOHAWKS

Henriet, with much appreciated aid of Andy Bordula.

Mrs. Florence Dionne died on May 17th in her 21st year, the funeral service being held Friday, May 20th, at Holy Ghost church, Rev. Fr. Lehman officiating. She was born at Cowley, and leaves a husband to mourn her death. The cause of death was peritonitis. For some time she was at a dance was held, which rounded out a Pincher, and latterly had lived in very enjoyable evening for visitors and those who attended.

Rain and Snow Did Not Dampen Holiday Enthusiasm Tuesday

Victoria Day Observed by Demonstration of Coleman Citizens.

Several hundred citizens of this town joined with Blairmore in a grand parade and demonstration in honor of Victoria Day. West Canadian Collieries band headed the parade, and at 11:30 a.m. Coleman contingent journeyed to Blairmore in cars and trucks, joining with Blairmore and Bellevue contingents, where a parade, headed by mounted police, followed by war veterans, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides of Michel, B.C. Coleman and Blairmore, school children of the Pass towns and citizens, marched to the athletic and sports ground, where addresses were given and sports held for the children.

Gaily decorated cars and hundreds of flags gave a lively touch of color. Coleman children were supplied with ice cream cones, chocolates and nickles and dimes for running races.

Blairmore and Coleman were forced to curtail their baseball game owing to snow falling. The winners were to have played Bellevue.

Addresses appropriate to the day were given by J. W. McDonald, K.C. of Macleod; Mayor Farmer of Blairmore, Mr. J. E. Gillies and R. W. H. Pinkney.

DAIL PASSES ACT TO ABOLISH THE ALLEGIANCE OATH

Dublin, Ireland.—Abolition of the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the British crown was given approval of the Dail Eireann, despite a desperate eleventh hour attempt to prevent President Eamon de Valera's bill being written into the statute books. The Dail, by a vote of 77 to 69, gave final approval to all four sections of the measure.

Voicing unqualified opposition, J. MacDermott, Independent, claimed the bill should be withdrawn until after the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in July. He charged De Valera with harboring "twin hatreds against the late administration of President W. T. Cosgrave and against England."

"Removal of the oath is a domestic matter," stated President de Valera in a brief speech winding up the debate. No sensible person, he asserted, would suggest the bill represented an act of severance of the Free State from the Empire.

The bill provides, besides abolition of the oath, three other constitutional changes.

Of these the most contentious is the second section, which repeals the second part of the constitution which provided that anything in the constitution of the Free State repugnant to terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty should be null and void.

Long and bitter debate preceded final passage of the bill, with party lines holding intact on each division in the chamber. The labor group, whose attitude remained somewhat in doubt up to the debate started, voted solidly with the government.

The first division came on an amendment put forward by Patrick McGilligan, supporter of William T. Cosgrave. After a sharp discussion the government emerged victorious with a majority of eight, the majority it obtained on the second amendment and on the final vote.

Mr. McGilligan urged abandonment of the second section of the bill. He said President de Valera, by his election last March, had obtained a mandate from the people to abolish the oath, but not to make the constitution override the Anglo-Irish treaty.

Taking the oath of allegiance, Mr. de Valera insisted, was not obligatory unless the Free State made it so by domestic legislation.

The whole question, the president declared, lay in whether or not the Free State was on a level with other countries in the British commonwealth of nations. Other dominions, he said, could remove the oath if they wished.

"We have the same right and we are going to remove the oath," he emphasized. "It is in our interest to do so. The people want it removed and we will give effect to their will. We are doing it without any violation of the treaty."

Spain Requires Wheat

Government Carrying On Negotiations For Large Purchases

Madrid, Spain.—Financial circles said the Spanish Government had approached local branches of foreign banks in an attempt to arrange payment for the contemplated importation of 100,000 tons (about 3,733,000 bushels) of wheat.

The result of the negotiations was not known, but the government wants to spread the payment over periods of three, six and nine months. It was understood, the wheat to be bought from Canada, the United States and Argentina.

Banking circles said a government decree ordering the purchase of the wheat, expected soon, would bring Spain's total importations to 200,000 tons (about 7,466,000 bushels), but that it probably would be necessary to import another 200,000 tons before the new crop is available in July, since the domestic supply is exhausted.

Thinks Judges Underpaid

Ottawa, Ont.—Canadian judges are too numerous and underpaid, Premier R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons. The judiciary as a whole does not reflect the genius of the legal profession from which it is recruited, and in too many instances political patronage, rather than individual merit, has elevated a man to the bench.

Six hundred firms had exhibits at this year's agricultural implement salon in Paris.

Germany exported more shoes last year than in any twelve-month since 1913.

Doukhobors Protest

Write Letter To Press and Send Message To The Hague

Vancouver, B.C.—Doukhobors facing imprisonment to nude parading have written to the press and various public organizations, including the "anti-militaristic bureau of The Hague," protesting against their treatment.

In a letter to a local newspaper, the Doukhobors state: "It is a tragedy when one misunderstands another. And this is just what is happening today, without any cause whatever. Innocent people are being sentenced to three years' imprisonment."

"We know that truth is bought on Golgotha, and will ever remain there. We forgive everybody who has mistreated us. But when we come to our children and their mothers, this is where we stop and say 'There is no excuse for civilized people to force others into conditions that they are not able to bear. The whole world has been aroused by the Lindbergh case. But what is going on in Nelson; this is worse than kidnapping—a drama full of man's inhumanity to man.'"

Representatives of the Doukhobors have sent a cablegram to the "anti-militaristic bureau at The Hague," protesting against their treatment.

"We Doukhobors—Sons of Freedom of Canada—appeal to you," runs the message. "Please raise your voice in the name of trampled truth. Seven hundred in jail. More than half already sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The same conviction awaits the rest—just for appearing nude in protest against brutality. Our children forcibly taken away from their mothers. Please take this matter seriously, or you will be guilty before God and all idealists. Remember our struggle is truth. If you are brothers of same faith you can not be silent."

"(Signed) Sons of Freedom."

Hunting For "Baychimo"

Another Airplane May Enter Search For Deserted Fur Ship

Point Barrow, Alaska.—A double aerial search for the "Baychimo," fur trading vessel anchored off the Arctic Coast, is in prospect here.

Pilot William R. Graham and Mrs. Edna Crofterson, Portland, Ore., aviators, surveyed 1,000 square miles of the rough ice pack without glimpsing the missing ship, which they believe carries a valuable cargo of furs.

Pilot Joe Crofterson, noted northern aviator here with a motion picture cameraman on a scouting expedition, also said he might make exploratory flights in search of the "Baychimo."

Seattle, Wash.—To replace the steamer "Baychimo" lost along the Alaska coast in the ice floes of the seas of the north, the Danish Motorship "Karise" will sail from here in June for the Canadian Arctic via Vancouver, B.C.

The "Karise" was chartered by the Hudson's Bay Company from the Swenson Fur Trading Company for a voyage to Herschel Island and other Canadian Arctic posts. She will be manned by Canadian officers and crew.

Low Rates On Grain

Transportation Of Grain From Fort William To Montreal Cheapest Ever

Montreal, Que.—The Gazette published the following:

New record low rates of 3½ cents a bushel for the transportation of grain from Fort William to Montreal have been accepted during the last two days. It was announced 10 days ago that five cents a bushel was being offered and accepted, and there was a report that a rate of 4½ cents was even offered. Since then the situation has dropped from 'bad to worse' and several shipowners have decided to lay-up their vessels rather than operate them at a loss.

"Though small steamers are carrying grain at this abnormally low figure, it is maintained that no mathematical computations or calculations will enable their owners to produce a profit from the operation. It is even said grain cannot be carried profitably at seven cents a bushel, though several firms decided to continue accepting the lower rate in the hope that the situation would improve during the season."

Arrest Communists

Hamburg, Germany.—Eight hundred Young Communists were arrested here for displaying Communist flags and signs at a picnic. They were released after they had been booked at police headquarters. The police had granted permission for the picnic on conditions there be no Communist banners or signs.

Bombay Riots

Hindus and Moslems Continue To Engage In Street Battles

Bombay, India.—Fresh sporadic rioting between Hindus and Moslems broke out in Bombay, despite the presence of alert British soldiers, and before it was checked 11 more persons had been killed and 98 injured. Thus the toll of the communal fighting, which has flared intermittently for some days, rose to 99 dead and 948 wounded.

British troops frequently opened fire to check occasional street battles. There was still some looting, but the authorities expressed confidence that they were gaining control of the city through the energetic action of the soldiers.

Irish Free State Will Be Represented

Eamon De Valera Is To Attend Ottawa Conference

Dublin, Irish Free State.—President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State said he would personally attend the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference in July if government business did not interfere.

The president did not name other members of the Free State representation, although he said it was likely three ministers of his government would accompany him.

MANITOBA IS NOT IN FAVOR OF A WHEAT QUOTA

Winnipeg, Man.—Establishment of a wheat quota at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference would not be in the best interests of wheat producers, although sale of western wheat is of the utmost importance. This was the chief of six points agreed upon at a conference of Manitoba agricultural interests called by Premier John Bracken to formulate Manitoba's views for submission to the Dominion Government prior to the conference. Other points agreed upon were:

Stabilization of exchange is important. Wider markets are necessary for all varieties of Canadian farm produce.

An Empire intelligence marketing board is desirable. Better facilities should be provided for the distribution of British films throughout Canada.

Canadian delegates at the Imperial Conference should be asked to give preference to British goods most needed by Canadian consumers such as woolen goods, household articles, textiles, boots and shoes, seeds and plants.

A special committee was appointed to draft the suggestions and instructed to sit in with a conference to be held of representatives of boards of trade and industries other than agriculture. Findings of both Manitoba conferences will first be laid before a conference of the four western provinces at Regina, June 20, when a submission embodying the viewpoint of western Canada generally will be prepared.

U.S. Senate Refuses To Legalize Beer

First Senate Roll Call Brings Overwhelming Defeat

Washington.—The United States senate has refused to legalize beer.

The first senate roll call for beer since prohibition brought overwhelming defeat. The main vote was on an amendment by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Missouri, to the revenue bill to legalize 2½% beer and tax it 24 cents a gallon to help finance a $15,000,000 public construction program.

Just previously the senate had turned down—60 to 23—a proposal by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, to alter the Tydings amendment to make it allow four per cent. alcohol content.

Eleven Democrats voted with 12 Republicans for the Bingham four per cent. amendment.

An International Park

Waterton Lakes Park In Alberta, To Be Internationalized

Ottawa, Ont.—A bill designed to make the Waterton Lakes National Park, in Alberta, a portion of the Waterton-Glacier International Park, was given first reading in the House of Commons. Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, sponsoring the bill, said the Waterton Lakes Park adjoined the Glacier Park, a United States property in Montana.

Some time ago the United States government had suggested that the two parks be regarded as an international park and had passed legislation to that end.

Verdict Of Accidental Death

Southampton, England.—A verdict of accidental death was entered by a coroner's jury inquiring into circumstances surrounding the death of Earl of Eglmont, former Friddle, Alberta, rancher, who died from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Viscount Percival, the earl's 17-year-old son and heir, was not present at the inquest.

Churchill Cattle Shipment

Expected Cattle Cargo To Leave Early In August

Churchill, Man.—The first boat to arrive here this summer will return with a shipment of cattle to Europe. While arrangements have been made for the shipping of 2,000,000 bushels of grain via Hudson Bay, the cattle cargo is likely to leave here early in August, before the wheat shipments start.

It is stated here a stockyard will be constructed near the dock. Hay will be brought here from The Pas, Saskatoon, Sask.—The possibility of huge shipments of wheat through Churchill to the Spillers Ltd. Mills, at Cardiff and London, England, was disclosed in a statement issued by James M. Stevenson, K.C., president of the Board of Trade. Mr. Stevenson said that negotiations had been opened with the British milling firm through the trade through Churchill committee of the Board of Trade.

Tariffs Hurt Trade

No Inclination On Canada's Part To Enlarge Trade With U.S.

San Francisco.—W. L. McGregor, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, told the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce that in the face of existing American tariff laws there is no inclination on Canada's part to enlarge its trade with the United States.

Mr. McGregor said he was not entirely satisfied in his own mind that the government's treatment of Canada had been recorded at Washington was in conformity with enlightened business opinion in the United States. If United States business interests are not satisfied with the present economic relationships between their country and Canada, he suggested, they might make themselves a little more articulate on the subject.

OUR NATIONAL RADIO TO BE BEST IN WORLD

Ottawa, Ont.—Harmony reigned in the House of Commons when the radio control bill was under review. Party lines were forgotten, suggestions and advice flew back and forth across the Chamber and in complete unanimity the measure was given second reading and all but one or two clauses passed through committee.

The bill would establish a Canadian radio broadcasting commission to control a nationalized system of radio. With headquarters in Ottawa and branch offices throughout the Dominion, the commission of three would regulate broadcasting through its own chain of stations from coast to coast.

Premier R. B. Bennett, sponsor of the bill, said it was designed to give Canadians a broadcasting system "not excelled elsewhere in the world." It would give Canadian control to Canadian broadcasting, free from foreign interference or influence.

Tentative salaries of $12,000 a year for the chairman and $10,000 each for the commissioners, were suggested by the Prime Minister. One commissioner would be French-speaking and one will be a radio engineer, possessing the necessary technical training. The commission, said Mr. Bennett, should be composed of men "with an excellent appreciation and understanding of the value of broadcasting to the nation and should have some understanding of what is pleasing to the major part of the people of this country in the form of programmes."

Indicating the harmony and co-operation that reigned throughout the discussion, the Prime Minister, insisting that politics play no part in selecting the personnel of the commission, suggested to the Liberals they present a list of men acceptable to them. A further indication of this unusual spirit came when the Prime Minister asked for suggested penalties for infractions of broadcasting regulations and adopted the proposals of Major C. G. Power, Lib., Quebec South.

The provinces, the Prime Minister announced, will have something to say over programme selections.

Members of the commission must devote their full time to the work. They will be barred from having any private business ties, especially relating to radio or broadcasting. Upon retirement, they will receive pensions. The chairman will hold office for 10 years, the vice-chairman for nine years and the commissioner for eight. With an eye to the future, it was incorporated in the bill that control of television and other scientific developments, also would be placed under the commission.

FOR SEPARATE GRADING OF GARNET WHEAT

Ottawa, Ont.—The recommendations of the Grain Standards Board in 1931 for a separate grading of Garnet wheat, are endorsed by the agricultural committee of the House of Commons in a report submitted to the House to take effect for the crop of 1933-34. The board is given a free hand, however, to make changes in the proposed standards if it finds conditions warrant it. The report reads:

"Your committee in view of the evidence presented before them, a printed copy of which is herewith presented to the House, present the following recommendations:

"Your committee recommends that the Canada Grain Act be amended to make operative for the crop year 1933-34 the recommendation of the Western Grain Standards Board, insofar as it relates to the grading of Garnet wheat as contained in the annual report of the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada for the year 1931. Provided that the said amendment shall have force and effect for the crop year 1933-34, unless the said board shall, after giving due consideration to the evidence given before your committee, recommend existing, establish standards for the grading of Garnet wheat for the said crop year, different from the standards recommended by the said report of 1931."

"Your committee further recommends that 1,000 copies of this report and the evidence on which it is based be printed in blue book form for distribution to the growers of Garnet wheat so that they may be more fully advised of the intended change in the Canada Grain Act."

The report was presented by Mr. C. Conn (Cons., Haldimand), who is chairman of the committee.

In the agricultural committee Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, moved an amendment to the report. It was seconded by Dr. Donnelly (Lib., Wilkes-Buchanan). It asked the committee to declare that "no change in the grading of Garnet wheat has been shown to be either desirable or advisable at the present time. Particularly in the interest of stability of grades and grade names in world markets so long as quality is preserved, and also in the best interests of many already over disturbed and hard pressed producers even in high production areas."

The amendment was defeated but will likely be moved again when the report is up for concurrence.

Politics In Manitoba

Continuing Liberals Repudiate Alliance With Bracken Party

Winnipeg, Man.—Things are moving in Manitoba politics. The Manitoba general election less than four weeks away, all parties are actively working on schemes to lure the elusive voter to mark his ballot the right way.

Definite assurance that the Liberal Party would be a factor in the election came when 114 members of the continuing Liberals met in convention here and repudiated the alliance made with the Progressive Government forces of Premier John Bracken, made by Dr. Murdoch Mackay, Liberal Leader, and the official Liberal organization. Attacking the Bracken government as a "class" administration, the Liberals determined to carry the banner of Laurier into the field.

At the same time the official Liberals and the Progressives held a convention at which they drew up a platform. Both Premier Bracken and Dr. Mackay addressed the gathering and stressed the harmony prevailing between the two groups since the alliance was made. Mr. Bracken incidentally announced the names of two Liberals who would be appointed to his cabinet would be made known shortly.

The Liberal-Progressive platform calls for a policy designed to meet changed economic conditions. Many of the steps already taken by the Bracken government are commended. Reduction in government expenditure, but all possible steps to aid primary producers and business generally, are favored.

David Campbell, K.C., was chosen leader of the continuing Liberals at their convention. They plan to place some 35 to 40 candidates in the field for the 35 seats in the legislature.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Half dozen members injured in worst outbreak in German political history; legislative hall wrecked by flying chairs, inkwells and water bottles, and Communists forced out of hall in battle. Deputy speaker carried to hospital with one side of face ripped open. Even more serious than Coleman's free-for-all was this fight between National Socialists and Communists in Berlin.

Mayor Pattinson proposes the organizing of a local relief fund, sponsored by the council, board of trade and business men. The Red Cross society work requires supplementing by definite effort by the men of the town. The burden should not be left to the women. Any plan requiring financial assistance should be responded to, and a municipal relief fund will be of value for emergent relief purposes.

A year ago, Crows Nest Pass miners by a vote of three to one were in favor of affiliation with the Unity League. Coleman voted 294 to 144, leaving approximately 160 who did not vote. Assuming those who did not vote were negative; it showed an almost even break for and against in Coleman.

The Journal stated at that time: "It will be a fight between those who adhere to recognized labor organizations and those who are attempting to make the Russian system dominant."

Because the Communists lost here, in the ten weeks strike, Coleman miners are called by pet names which the radicals so love to use when reason fails and they are unable to intelligently express their thoughts. The language of the gutter is resorted to, and so we have an organizer who, representing a union which has taken its toll from these miners, because they refuse to follow his rotten leadership, turns on them with filthy names which he shouts under the protection of the public platform and the satellites who surround him. Noble work! A fine example of the "Dictatorship of the Proletariat."

Coleman miners have demonstrated their right to choose their leaders, who are men of themselves—not imported for the express purpose of stirring up dissension. The rubber-stamp puppets who are selected and for whom men are told to vote by an organizer whom they know "little of, fill the role admirably in this grand scheme of "dictatorship." Bunty pulls the strings and they dance.

The majority of Coleman miners have greater faith in their ability to solve local problems than they have in a union dominated by Communism through its instruments—Sloan and Stokulak, with Murphy as the Barker.

Of all the meetings held, we have failed to hear a constructive suggestion for the amelioration of the workers. Scathing denunciation has embittered workers' minds, and after a year of affiliation with the Unity League, Crows Nest miners are "fed up" on the reiterations of damning capitalists and the "bourgeoisie." This has been carried on and partly financed by levies against the miners. The collapse of the strike in Coleman proves how little such a crowd had to offer them.

Concerning relief, which miners are accused of receiving and then returning to work, the responsibility rests on the Unity League. They called the strike, asking men to sacrifice themselves on short rations while a few fanatical enthusiasts do nothing but spout as long as a crowd will listen. It also comes with ill-grace to accuse store-keepers for cutting off credit, when they have gone the limit in supplying goods during the past years. Murphy feeds the crowd on a hodge-podge of half-baked sentiment which leaves them cold, with nothing to indicate improvement. He appeals to mob psychology, carefully studied to inflame the workers and unemployed. To a large number of men, who have spent years in the Crows Nest Pass mining industry, his proposals for militant revolution and the overthrow of the present system do not find favor.

Nearly 600 men return to work because they realize they must decide their course of action. Collectively or individually they exercise their own privileges. It is contrary to the Unity League and its affiliations, hence the torrent of abuse and anger to bolster up a contest of ideals in industrial conflict.

Coleman miners union officials have suggested a monster celebration on Dominion Day, July 1, and business men interviewed state they will be glad to co-operate. Now is the time to prepare.

CANADIAN LEGION CONVENTION

Barnes or C. J. Devine, or The Journal office.

Here and There

Anticipations are that there will be an attendance of 500 Rotarians at the district convention to be held at the Cornwallis Inn, Kootenai, N.S., June 1 and 2. It is expected that Sir John Bennett, of St. John's, Newfoundland, will address the convention.

Hon. Gordon S. Harrington, premier of Nova Scotia, accompanied by Mrs. Harrington, left Halifax recently for Montreal where they boarded S.E. Duchesne of Bedford for a short holiday in the Old Country. During his absence, Hon. Percy C. Black will be acting premier of the province.

"It is not too much to say that any improvement in the revenues of the railroads will immediately make itself felt in all channels of trade and that the maintenance of railroad solvency will do more than any other domestic factor to restore strength to the nation's institutions," says an editorial in the Charleston, S. C., Post.

The "career open to merit" in railway affairs is well illustrated in the case of Charles H. Ewing, a railroad for 49 consecutive years, recently promoted president of the Reading Company. In 1883, at the age of 17, Ewing began his railroad career as a rodman in the employ of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, now the Reading Company.

There were 447 moose and 9594 deer shot in New Brunswick last year, according to figures contained in the annual report of Chief Game Warden H. H. Ritchie to the provincial Minister of Lands and Forests. There was also a very successful partridge season with a bag of 4,459 birds.

Warmer weather and generally favorable conditions point to normal development of the western wheat crop, according to the report of the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Virtually all of Manitoba's seed is in and Saskatchewan and Alberta seeding will be completed by the end of the third week of May.

Two famous globe-trotters, Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, noted anthropologist, and Bob Davis, New York Sun's world-gridding correspondent, came together at Victoria recently on Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, the former on his way to Peking and the latter travelling with Mrs. Davis to Honolulu.

Success attending the inaugural cruise of S.S. Princess Alice last year to northern British Columbia and Alaska has led the British Columbia Coast Steamship service to provide another special Alaska cruise with the S.S. Princess Charlotte, leaving August 9 from Vancouver. It is announced by E. F. L. Sturdee, general passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway.

Capital, Labor, the learned professions, diplomacy and business were all represented in the passenger list of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia on arrival at Quebec recently. The list included Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal; Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada; F. H. Meredith, K.C., Dr. Moser, consul-general for Czechoslovakia, and Colonel Hercule Barre, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner in Paris.

Residents of Maritime Provinces will have a fine opportunity of visiting Mount St. Helens and Military Tournament, May 27-29, through a special low rate Canadian Pacific coach excursion leaving Saint John, Fredericton, Woodstock, St. Stephen and St. Andrews May 27. Similar excursions over the same week-end are being operated by the railway from Vermont, and the Sudbury, Ontario, areas. (245)

Canadian Banking System

U.S. Senator Praises System Here In Comparison With That Of United States

The happy position of Canada's banking system as compared with that of the United States was dramatically placed before the United States senate by Carter Glass, of Virginia, former secretary of the treasury.

Glass was pressing his revision of the banking laws to permit branch banking in the United States.

Canada, he said, had not had one single bank failure during this frightful depression while in the United States 5,000 banks had gone under with losses during the past two years to depositors of $5,500,000,000.

For years treasury and currency experts have been attempting to get congress to permit branch banking. Their efforts have been so far successfully opposed by representatives of smaller communities and farming areas who believe in individual and personal banking.

Plan Trade Drive

Ontario To Place Sales Representatives In Winnipeg, Montreal and Maritime Provinces

As part of an intensive drive to secure a greater share of the Canadian market, the Ontario Department of Agriculture is placing sales representatives in Winnipeg, Montreal and Maritime Provinces, it was announced by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture. The duties of these representatives, who will work through the agricultural council, will be to keep the department informed as to conditions in the various provinces, the volume of sales of Ontario agricultural products and the best means of increasing those sales.

Col. Kennedy declared that the government was launching a drive for more markets and that up till now much of the effort had been directed toward securing a better foothold in the British market.

There was a big field for Ontario products in the other provinces of Canada, the minister believed. As to the British market, the Ontario Government already had a representative in London and at the present time W. B. Somers, chairman of the agricultural board, was in the Old Country in the interests of Ontario trade.

Anti-Aircraft Gun

French Have Invented Gun That Will Hit Target Seven and One-Half Miles High

That a new anti-aircraft gun can bring down an attacking bomber seven and one-half miles up in the air, is the claim of those conducting tests on the Riviera coast, near La Seyne, France.

The secret of the gun's construction is jealously guarded by the firm whose engineers planned it. Anti-aircraft guns have previously proved effective at a height of about three and one-half miles, but modern aircraft can attain much greater altitudes.

In the experiments off La Seyne an aeroplane, with pilot and mechanic, ascended seven and one-half miles, towing, suspended 1,000 feet beneath it, a target of which the anti-aircraft gun opened fire with live shells. Aviation, military and navy men of Europe are watching the tests.

Scotland's Exhibition Ship

Enterprise Is Shown By Prominent Business Men From Glasgow

Scotland has again displayed her traditional enterprise by sending out to Canada the largest and most varied aggregation of Scottish products ever made, on the Anchor-Donaldson liner "Lettitia."

The steamer was used as an exhibition ship for over a hundred different products of Scotland, ranging from bagpipes to boilers. About eighty of Scotland's most prominent business men accompanied their exhibits and the Trade Mission was headed by His Grace The Duke of Montrose. The object of the exhibition was to foster closer trade relations between Canada and Scotland. The Corporation of Glasgow, which has fitted up the steamer, has a long and varied history to look back on.

Glasgow is the nearest British port to Canada, and the connection of the Clyde with Canada, is of old date. John Galt, the novelist—a Greenock man, and a contemporary of Sir Walter Scott—was one of the makers of Ontario, and the city of Galt is named after him. In 1819, Captain Alburgh, Lord Allan, founder of the Allan Line, of Glasgow and Montreal—now merged into the C.P.R.—made his first voyage from the Clyde to Quebec. In Glasgow, in 1853, was founded the Donaldson Line, now linked with the company to which the "Lettitia" belongs.

The official history of Empire Trade begins with 1783. In that year was founded the first Chamber of Commerce in the British Isles—namely the Glasgow Chamber of Commerce, which is closely identified with the "Lettitia" Exhibition.

The founder of the Chamber was a pupil of Adam Smith, in Glasgow, Lord Provost Patrick Colquhoun, L.L.D., who afterwards won European fame as an economic publicist, and who has a monument in St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Glasgow as a Cathedral city dates from the time of her patron Saint, St. Mungo, in the 6th century. Her great university is close on 500 years old. Not long after the Reformation, Glasgow's population was nearly 45,000. It was reduced to under 11,000 in the Covenanter War, and by the Darien disaster at the end of the 17th century.

Scotland's object in the Darien Expedition, the first of which has been finely told by a Glasgow historian, D. G. F. Insh, was to establish a great trading emporium in Central America. Spain was hostile, and the English Government was unfavourable to the opening of trade between Scotland and the English Colonies and soon after the Union with Virginia and other American Colonies, by 1760, they had secured a very large share of the European tobacco trade, and the population of the city had risen to 45,000.

Those Glasgow Virginia merchants were the "tobacco lords" who wore a distinctive and magnificent costume, including a scarlet gown. They owned many ships, and had large estates on the Clyde and on the Potomac. One family, still represented near Glasgow, were neighbors of George Washington on the banks of the River James, and called their Scottish estate Mount Vernon.

An American War of Independence ruined the "tobacco lords and well-nigh

"Really, I think BABY'S OWN TABLETS are wonderful," writes Mrs. Allan P. MacDonald, Northfield, Ont. "My baby has no more colic pains."

Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS

ruined Glasgow. It was then, amid disaster, that Glasgow set herself to deepen the Clyde for ocean traffic, develop the industries that had been subsidiary to shipping ventures, work the coal and iron of Clydeside on a big scale, and extend her trade over the world.

These energies were co-ordinated by the establishment of the Chamber of Commerce, which set up a Glasgow House in London and at Ostend, and began at once to exercise a powerful influence in Scottish and British trade. Glasgow never looked back after 1783. With the launching of the "Comet" in 1812, she began her great career as a ship-building and engineering centre.

Today, Glasgow has a population of over a million. Her technical versatility is endless. Some 2,000 different kinds of enterprises are represented by her Chamber of Commerce and the commercial and industrial bodies affiliated with it. The Chamber of Commerce, Battalion, raised at the outbreak of the War, had a splendid record. Recently the Chamber, with the Glasgow Corporation, organized the Glasgow and District Development Board, the largest of the regional boards affiliated with the Scottish National Development Council, and the Board is doing good work in encouraging the establishment of new industries throughout an important industrial area with a population of well over one and a half million.

Report Is Satisfactory

British Boys Working At Coast Are Making Good

Thirty-two of the fifty boys brought out from Britain in 1930 and placed on farms and in homes in British Columbia are making good in their new domiciles, according to information received at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria. Eight returned home, seven have disappeared and one has had trouble with law officers.

The scheme has been in force for some years in other parts of Canada and is under the auspices of the imperial dominion and provincial governments or some responsible organization. The boys brought to British Columbia were taken in charge by Dr. W. H. Geddes, colonization commissioner of Vancouver, who has made personal inspections of their homes, seeing that they are properly cared for and recording progress made by them.

No boys were brought out in 1931 and none will arrive this year.

A complete fishery exhibition will be part of this year's agricultural show at Grimsby, England.

More than 200,000 goats and sheep are being raised on the Aegean Islands.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JOSEPH THE DREAMER

Golden Text: "Take thought for things honorable in the sight of all men."—Romans 12:17.

Lesson: Genesis 37:1-11.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 8:1-4.

Explanations and Comments

Joseph's Troubles With His Half-Brothers, verses 14-28.—The phrase "These are the generations of Jacob," means, "Here begins the history of Jacob's descendants (especially of Joseph)." Jacob was living quietly at Hebron. Joseph, the elder son of Jacob and Rachel, is a lad of seventeen when he comes into the picture. Joseph was "a lad with the sons of Bilhah and with the sons of Zilpah," an expression which Delitzsch understands as meaning that he was their attendant, their subordinate. Of course trouble would arise for Bilhah and Zilpah were bondswomen and naturally jealous of Rachel, and their sons would, just as naturally, be jealous of Rachel's son. Joseph's task was to help these half-brothers feed the flocks, for whose pasturage they were obliged to wander far and wide.

Joseph brought his father an evil report of these men. "We are not obliged to suppose that Joseph was a gratuitous tale-bearer, or that when he carried their evil report to his father, he was actuated by an unworthy spirit. That he very well knew how to hold his tongue no man ever gave more adequate proof, but he that understands that there is 'a time to keep silence necessarily sees also that there is 'a time to speak'." And no one can tell what torture that pure young soul may have endured in the remote pastures, when left alone to withstand, day after day, the outrage of these coarse and unscrupulous men."—Marcus Dods.

Another cause of trouble was the father's favoritism. Jacob had good reason to prefer Joseph to his brothers. Joseph was "a goodly person and well-versed," he was affectionate, bright and quick, ever ready to do his father's bidding. His brothers were fierce, sour, sordid men. Jacob could not help loving Joseph the most, but he could have kept from showing his preference. All children have equal claim upon a parent's care. Duty, common sense, reason, should have guided Jacob in the treatment of his children; instead he was guided by his heart alone.

Jacob showed his partiality by giving Joseph a coat of many colors, thought to have been a sort of magisterial robe, such as was worn by those in authority, or by the rich who did not manual work, and in that case a visual sign that Joseph, the next to the youngest of twelve sons, was given the birthright, the position belonging to the eldest. This lordly attire was always in evidence, and the brothers hated him and could not speak peaceably unto him.

"From bitterness preserve me, Lord: From jealous thoughts protect my day: Against the stroke of envy's sword Help me to hold my way."

And grant my soul sufficient grace To gladden at another's prize, And look upon his eager face With sympathetic eyes."—Henry Robinson Palmer.

Diets Announced As Cure

Celiac, a Childhood Disease, Requires Only Good Food As Treatment

A cure for celiac disease without a drop of medicine was reported to the American Medical Association at New Orleans. Diet alone does it. This disease is one of the pitiful ills of childhood, causing retarded growth, serious stomach disorders, growing weakness and, when too long neglected, almost certain death.

Predilection to relapse had made it difficult to cope with. Dr. Sidney V. Haas of New York City, said there has not been one recurrence.

The new treatment is an example of the rapidly-developing science of finding in two or three common-place articles of food a regulator that enables the body to convert the entire diet into its natural "medicine."

One cause of celiac disease is a peculiar form of sugar starvation. No matter how much sugar a child eats the system cannot assimilate it, and the sweet only makes them worse. Dr. Haas found the sugar in ripe bananas can be eaten freely and that in the children's bodies it converts ordinary sugars into an agreeable form.

Has Plenty Of Variety

Missionary Sent From West Indies To North Of Scotland

Life is just one extreme after another for the Rev. Frank Jarvis, Church of England missionary, one of the 122 passengers arriving at New York on the Munson liner "Munarg."

After four years of basking on Go Island, in the West Indies, he came to Thruso, in the extreme north of Scotland, where it is cold and misty the year round.

"But," he said laughing, "I'm glad of the change, because life does require some variety." He tried without much success to interest some of the negroes in Latin and Greek.

C.N.R. Radio Broadcasting

Radio broadcasting cost the Canadian National Railways $441,082, in 1929, the House Committee on railways and shipping was advised, but only $114,000 is to be spent in 1932. The gross figures for 1930 were $420,603, and for 1931, $326,248. There was a certain amount of revenue from rental of facilities, and tolls to the Canadian National, in addition to the advertising benefits which could not be reckoned in dollars and cents.

She did not tell him why. But within herself she knew that no woman would ever be afraid with Geoffrey Burke. Afraid of him, possibly, but never afraid that he would not be entire master of any situation where physical strength and courage were the paramount necessities.

She reflected a little grimly to herself that it was this very forceful, ruthless strength—a savour of magnificence about it, something instinctively heroic, which appeals irresistibly to that primitive instinct somewhere hidden in the temperamental make-up of even the most ultra-twentieth-century feminine product.

And Jean was quite aware that she herself was not altogether proof against the attraction of Burke's dynamic virility.

There was another kind of strength which appealed to her far more. She knew this, too. The still, quiet force that was Tormarin's—deep, and unfathomable, and silent, of the spirit as well as of the body. Contrasted with the savage power she recognized in Burke, it was like the fine, tempered steel of a rapier compared with a heavy bludgeon.

"A penny for your thoughts!" Jean came out of her reverie with a start. She smiled.

"Don't get conceited. I was thinking about you."

"Nice thought, I hope, then," suggested Burke. "It's better"—audaciously—"to think well of your future husband."

The old pipey's words flashed into Jean's mind:

"You're bound together so fast and firm as wedding-rings could bind 'ee, and her face flamed scarlet."

It was true—at least as far as she was concerned—that no wedding-ring could bind her more firmly to Blaise than her own heart had already bound her.

The instinct to flirt with Burke was in abeyance. It was an instinct only of haste and unhappiness, and now that Blaise's mind was so much less cool and distant than it had been, the temptation to play with unexploded bombs had correspondingly lost much of its charm.

"Don't be tiresome, Geoffrey," she said vexedly. "If only you would make up your mind to be—just plain. I should think much better of you."

"Then I'm afraid you'll have to think worse," he retorted.

Just at that moment they encountered a flock of sheep, ambulating leisurely along towards them and blocking up the narrow roadway, and Jean was spared the necessity of replying by the fact that Burke immediately found his hands full, manoeuvring a path for the mare between the broad, curly backs of the bleating multitude.

The drover of the flock was, of course, a hundred yards or more behind his charges, negligently occupied in relighting his pipe, so that no assistance was to be looked for in that direction, and as the sheep bumped against the mare's legs and crowded up against the wheels of the trap in their characteristically maddening fashion, it required all Burke's skill and dexterity to make a way through the four-footed crowd.

The chestnut's own idea of dealing with the difficulty was to charge full speed ahead, an idea which by no means facilitated matters, and she fought her bit and fairly danced with fury as Burke checked her at almost every yard.

They had nearly reached the top open road again, and Jean, looking down on the sea of woolly backs, with the howling cloud of hoof-driven dust above them, thought she could fully appreciate the probable feelings of the Isaralles as they approached the further shore of the Red Sea. And it was just at this inauspicious moment that the drover, having lit his pipe to his satisfaction, looked up and grasped the situation.

Guiltily conscience not only makes cowards, but is also prolific in the creation of fools, and the drover, stung into belated action by the consciousness of previous remissness, promptly did the most foolish thing he could.

He let off a yell that tore its way through every quivering nerve in the mare's body, and with a shout of "Round 'em, lad!" sent his dog—a half-trained youngster—barking like a creature possessed, full tilt in pursuit of the sheep.

That settled it as far as the chestnut was concerned. With a bound she leapt forward, scattering the two or three remaining sheep that still blocked her path, and the next moment the light, high cart was rocking like a corkie-shell in a choppy sea, as she tore ahead, utterly out of hand.

Luckily, for a couple of miles the road ran straight as a dart, and after the first gasp of alarm Jean found herself curiously collected and able to calculate chances. At the end of two miles, she knew, there came a steep declivity—a typical Devonshire hill, like the side of a house, which the British workman had repaired in his usual crude and inefficient manner, so that loose stones and inequalities of surface made the going a matter of negotiation. At the foot of this descent was a sharp double turn—a veritable death-trap. Could Burke possibly get the mare in hand before they reached the brow of the hill? Jean doubted it.

There was no sound now in all the world except the beating of the mare's hoofs upon the road and the screaming rush of the wind in their ears. The hedges flew past, a green, distorted blur. The strip of road fled away beneath them as though coiled up by some swift revolving cylinder; ahead, it ended sheer against a sky blue as a periwinkle, and into that blue they were rushing at thirty miles an hour. When they reached it, it would be the end. Jean could almost hear the crash that must follow, sense the sickening feeling of being flung backwards, hurled into space, and hurtling down into black nothingness.

Her glance sought Burke's face. His jaw was outstretched, and she could guess at the clenched teeth behind the lips that shut like a rat-trap. His eyes gleamed beneath the bushy brows, drawn together so that they almost met above his fighting back of a nose.

In an oddly detached manner, she found herself reflecting on the dogged brute strength of his set face. If anyone could check that flying, foaming force, rocketing along to space, the wharfs like a red-brown streak, he could.

She wondered how long he would be able to hold the beast—to hang on? She remembered having read that, after a time, the strain of pulling against a runaway becomes too much for human nerves and muscles, and that a man's hands grow numb—and helpless! While the dead pull on the bit equally numbs the mouth of the horse, so that he, too, has no more any feeling to be played upon by the pressure of the bit.

Her eyes dropped to Burke's hands. With a little inward start of astonishment she realized that he was not attempting to pull against the chestnut. He was just holding... holding... steady her, ever so little, in her mad gallop. Jean felt the mare swerve, then swing level again, still answering faintly to the reins.

Burke's hands were very still. She wondered vaguely why—now—she didn't pit his strength against that of the runaway. They must have covered a mile or more. A bare half-mile was all that still lay between them and disaster.

And then, as she watched Burke's hands, she saw them move, first one and then the other, saving the bit against the tender corners of the mare's mouth. Jean was conscious of a faint difference in the mad pace of her. Not enough to be accounted a check—but still something, some appreciable slackening of the whirlwind rush towards that blue blur of sky ahead.

It seemed as though Burke, too, sensed that infinitesimal yielding to the saw of the bit. For the first time, he gave a definite pull at the reins. Then he relaxed the pressure, and then followed the same saving motion and the fret of the steel bar against sensitive, velvet lips. Then another pull—the man's sheer strength against the mare's... Jean watched, fascinated.

And gradually, almost imperceptibly at first, the frenzied beat of the iron-shod hoofs became more measured as the chestnut shortened her stride. It was no longer merely the thashing, thunderous devil's tattoo of sheer, panic-driven speed.

Now and again Jean could hear Burke's voice, speaking to the frightened beast, chiding and reassuring in even, unhurried tones.

She was conscious of no fear, only of an absorbing interest and excitement as to whether Burke would be able to impose his will upon the animal before they reached that precipitous hill the descent of which must infallibly spell destruction.

She sat still, her hands locked together, watching... watching

Returns To Civilization After Facing Death In Paraguayan Jungle

A story of excruciating suffering in the Paraguayan jungle, including being almost eaten alive by ants nearly an inch long, was told by Donald S. Wees, explorer, who has just returned to civilization.

Wees, who spent three months in scientific work in the wilds of north-eastern Paraguay, in the "Grano Desert," is on his way back to the United States by way of Buenos Ayres.

Besides the encounter with the ants, he told of battling floods in the Acaray River with a makeshift canoe heaved from a log, and a struggle in chopping his way with a machete through a jungle thick with conifers, plants with large knife-like leaves capable of inflicting very severe wounds.

Early in March, he said, a month after the expedition left the headwaters of the Yagazú River for the Brazilian border, his companions were killed and faced starvation. In spite of the fact that his feet were rotting from the humidity, he walked 18 miles until he found some Indians with whom he was able to barter fish, fish hooks and soap for some beans, corn and mandioca root to feed his party.

Small Jail To House Local Prisoners Is Planned

A Vatican jail is the latest development in the transformation of this papal city. Plans are being developed for a small prison beside the ancient mint which has been remodelled as a power house.

Since the Lateran Treaty of 1929, Vatican City has had the right to try and incarcerate persons guilty of committing misdemeanors or crimes within her territory.

Free Time Tables

Should the Canadian railways make a charge to the public for time-tables? This point was raised in the Commons Railway Committee. In Great Britain a small charge is made, but Sir Henry Thornton doubted if it would be possible to do so in Canada. The universal custom on the North American continent is to provide time-tables free. The result is that very often they are taken by people who do not require them.

Victorian Order Of Nurses

Increased Interest Is Being Shown In the Work Carried On

Despite lowered financial resources, increased interest is being shown in the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and 1931 was an outstanding year, Miss Elizabeth Smellie, chief superintendent, told the 34th annual meeting of the board of governors at Ottawa.

The superintendent's optimistic report was echoed by other speakers, including Senator George P. Graham, the president, who declared there was never a time when the people sacrificed more according to their ability in the cause of human welfare.

"We are facing this time with our backs to the wall but we are full of courage and hope, feeling sure that the work we are carrying on is essential to the nation, the president said.

Baltimore Repeals Old Laws

Made When State Was Founded Two Hundred Years Ago

Baltimore, by the largest vote ever given a question or a candidate, has repealed its 200-year-old Sunday observance laws, which even precluded a man's kissing his wife on the Sabbath.

By a majority of more than 83,000, the city wiped off its books the Sunday laws which were born with the Maryland legal code when the Calverts founded the state, and for the first time, can go to moving picture shows, sport events, and make certain retail purchases legally next Sunday.

Green Leaf Holds Secret

Method Of Storing Sunlight Still Puzzle To Scientists

Science has not yet solved the green leaf's secret of storing up the energy of sunlight by converting carbon dioxide into carbohydrates. It appears from research by Prof. G. Mackinney of the University of California's division of plant nutrition.

Vegetation has the ability of turning carbon dioxide, the gas exhaled by organisms and given off by fire, into carbohydrates, useful as starches, sugars and cellulose. Some six years ago Prof. E. C. C. Baly, professor of chemistry, university of Liverpool, reported the reduction of carbon dioxide to formaldehyde and carbohydrates in vitro, that is, in the test tube. Others worked on the same important problem with varying success. Prof. Mackinney has attempted to repeat the experiments but has been forced to conclude in his report to the American Chemical Society that "no procedure has yet been published whereby conditions for obtaining formaldehyde and carbohydrates in vitro can be duplicated in other laboratories."

Since photosynthesis, as the process is called, is fundamental to the existence of life on earth through the utilization of sun energy, scientists will continue to search for its mechanism.

Ever remembered by his parents, brother and sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter Gladys, who was drowned at Lundbreck Falls on the 26th day of May, 1929. Ever remembered by her mother, dad and family.

Just three years ago today as Lundbreck Falls were falling.

The one we loved then passed away, no more to hear our calling;

Since then each day, from up above, we hear her angel voice,

Don't sigh for me, it's heaven I'm in, so let your hearts rejoice.

We miss her winning smile, we miss her madcap ways,

We miss the singing voice we love, as in the grave she lays;

Each day we send a message, that just we know, alone,

And get her answer in our dreams, through heaven's telephone.
